

Call For Papers!
Twelfth Undergraduate Political Science Conference
College at Oneonta, State University New York

Friday, April 2nd, 2021
Online modality

Paper Proposal Due Date: March 5th, 2021

Greetings Students!

The organizers of the twelfth Undergraduate Political Science Conference are inviting diligent, hardworking students to submit their work to present at our annual political science conference sponsored by the SUNY Oneonta Political Science Club.

We encourage the submission of papers regarding work in Political Science, International Studies, International Development Studies, Africana Latino Studies, Anthropology, Women and Gender Studies, History, Sociology and related fields. We encourage that topics are related to politics and government, continental, and international! Being that politics is everywhere, it may not be hard to relate any paper onto the broader scope of politics.

Presenting at the Political Science Conference is an exceptional opportunity for undergraduate students to build upon professional skills such as public speaking, networking with peers, and being challenged intellectually by other presentations. Whether or not you want to chase the path of academia after your undergraduate degree or not, we can guarantee that presenting at the conference will be a valuable experience for you to not only learn about other topics in political science, but about yourself, and where your passions lie. It is a remarkable experience to present to engaged students from different schools and meet Alumni who have succeeded with their degrees in political science. The conference will have eye-opening presentations and we sincerely hope you will join the panel of hard working and passionate students!

We ask that the papers be approximately 8 to 30 pages in length and presentations should be approximately 10-15 minutes. Specific guidelines for presentations will be sent out upon submission of papers.

The conference will be held online this year due to COVID restrictions. The Conference will begin at 12pm and run through the afternoon, along with your exceptional paper presentations the conference will also involve a Q+A Style panel with SUNY Oneonta professors, and a Keynote speaker. We expect captivating presentations and interaction among all types of students from colleges and universities of New York to be centerpiece of the conference. This is a great opportunity to meet different students and learn about varying topics of interest among your demographic.

Please submit a full draft of the paper to polisci.conference.oneonta@gmail.com. Be mindful to include a completed copy of the cover page attached to this email. Please do not underestimate the quality of your paper, we encourage a diverse submission of papers that range from varying topics of interest. After all, the purpose of this conference is to build you up by engaging in an opportunity to engage in some constructive criticism to make you into a more marketable political science student. Students will be notified of their acceptance by March 12th, 2021.

Thank you for your time, and get submitting!

If you have any questions, comments, or concerns feel more than free to contact:

Maggie McCann
Student Organizer
President, Political Science Club
mccamt00@oneonta.edu

Brett Heindl
Faculty Advisor
Chair, Political Science Department
brett.heindl@oneonta.edu